LEGACIES

Leaving a gift in your will, no matter how small, can make a real and lasting difference to others.

For some people the idea of making a Will is something which may make us feel uncomfortable. However, it is something that all of us should do at an early age to ease the burden on the loved ones we leave behind.

A gift left in a Will is simply a means of giving something back to those that you want to remember. It offers you with the opportunity to ensure that your personal possessions and finances are divided up according to your specific wishes. It is about remembering the people and the causes you care about.

Of course, your loved ones come first, but just a small gift in your Will could help the Éist Cancer Support Centre provide much needed support services to people affected by cancer including their family members and carers throughout Carlow Town and County.

Leaving a gift in your Will is straight forward and is something that everyone can do. We understand that leaving a gift in your will is a very personal decision. Some people choose to let us know that the Éist Cancer Support Centre has been remembered in their will. Others prefer to keep their wishes private, leaving it to their Executor or Solicitor to inform us when the time comes.
